

ONE TEAM, DIFFERENT ROLES

I think it is important to recognize that Council, Administration and Public Works are all working toward the same goal.

We may have different roles and different responsibilities, but those roles are all connected.

Council provides direction and makes the decisions. Administration works to implement those decisions, manage the municipality and ensure we are meeting our legislative and administrative responsibilities. Public Works takes that direction and carries out much of the hands-on work that residents see and rely on everyday.

None of these areas can operate effectively on their own. The decisions Council makes affect Administration and Public Works. The information and recommendations coming from Administration and Public Works help Council make informed decisions. And the experience and knowledge of Public Works helps Administration and Council understand what is happening on the ground and what our community needs.

We are three different parts of one team, and when those parts communicate, understand their roles and work together, the Village is stronger.

Ultimately, we are all working toward the same thing: providing good services to our residents, managing our resources responsibly, improving the Village we have today and building a strong foundation for the Village we want tomorrow.
